

What Have I done?

I have shown that I am able to complete assignments on a daily basis even with obstacles in my way. I was very pressed for time this month. I managed to move, take care of my son, work over time, deal with a winter storm, and still complete my assignments on time. I think this class, even with assignments that I didn't really grasp, was a huge confidence booster for me.

What am I doing?

I am currently trying to look back at everything I've done this month and how I could have done them better. There were a couple assignments that I didn't really understand as well as I wanted to. I'm taking the time to have a better look at those assignments in order to understand what I did wrong and how to do better in the future.

What's next?

I'm planning on adding all of my assignments from future classes to my repository in order to maintain my portfolio. I want to stay organized and proficient with my work to make sure I maintain a solid work ethic. I also want to continue planning and working on my schedule to make sure I don't fall behind in my assignments.

How to?

The biggest threat and weakness I have is becoming overwhelmed with work and a lack of time. This is turning into an opportunity for me to give up things in my personal life that take away from my own personal development. I'm cutting out times I spent watching television or hanging out at the local pub, in order to complete assignments. This is a definite strength, because I'm healthier and I feel much more productive and less stressed knowing that I'm not wasting any time. This will also help in my professional future. It shows that I'm willing to make sacrifices in order to better myself and therefore, any company I work for.